IV. Summarized Description of Material Accounting Policies

(I) Statement of Compliance

The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Accounting Standards 34, Interim Financial Reporting, endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China. The consolidated financial statements do not include all disclosure information required by IFRSs in the full-year consolidated financial statements.

(II) Basis of Preparation

Other than the Financial assets measured at fair value (refer to the descriptions of the accounting policies below), the consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis. Historical cost is generally based on the fair value of the consideration given in exchange for the assets.

(III) The basis for the consolidated financial statements

The entities of the consolidated financial statements include TA YA, its subsidiaries in which TA YA directly or indirectly holds more than half of the shares with voting rights and has control over them, and the subsidiaries in which TA YA directly or indirectly holds less than half of the shares with voting rights but has control over them. Significant intergroup transactions have been eliminated on consolidation.

Changes in a parent's ownership interest in a subsidiary that do not result in the parent losing control of the subsidiary (and transactions with non-controlling interests) are accounted for as equity transactions, i.e., transactions with owners in their capacity as owners. Any difference between the amount by which the non-controlling interests are adjusted and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity.

When a group loses control of a subsidiary, the Group measures any investment retained in the former subsidiary at its fair value. That fair value is regarded as the fair value on initial recognition of a financial asset or the cost on initial recognition of an associate or joint venture. Any difference between fair value and carrying amount is recognized in profit or loss. All amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to the subsidiary are reclassified to profit or loss, on the same basis as would be required if the related assets or liabilities were disposed of. That is, when the Group loses control of a subsidiary, all gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to the subsidiary should be reclassified from equity to profit or loss, if such gains or losses would be reclassified to profit or loss when the related assets or liabilities are disposed of.

(IV) Summarized Description of Material Accounting Policies

Except the following, please refer to significant accounting policies to the consolidated financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2024.

Non-current assets held for sale

When the carrying amount of a non-current asset is mainly recovered through a sale transaction rather than continual use, and there is a high probability of sale, it is classified as held for sale and measured at the lower of its carrying amount and fair value less costs to sell.

Income tax

The income tax expenses are the sum of the current income tax and deferred income tax. The interim income tax is assessed on an annual basis and calculated by applying the tax rate applicable to the expected total earnings for the year to the interim pre-tax profit. The change in the tax rate due to the amendment to the tax acts during the interim period is consistent with the accounting principle applied to the transaction generated taxation consequence, to be recognized in profit or loss, other comprehensive income, or directly in equity in the period in which it occurs.

V. Major Sources of Uncertainty Regarding Significant Accounting Judgments, Estimates, and Assumptions

When the Group adopts accounting policies, the management is required to make judgments, estimates, and assumptions regarding relevant information not readily available from other sources, based on historical experience and other relevant factors. The actual results may differ from the estimates.

The management will continuously examine the estimates and basic assumptions. If the amendment of the estimate only affects the current period, it shall be recognized in that period; if the revision of the accounting estimate affects both the current and future periods, it shall be recognized in both the current and future periods.

The major sources of uncertainty regarding significant accounting judgments, estimates, and assumptions of the consolidated financial statements are identical to these in the 2024 consolidated financial statements.

The average credit period on the sale of goods was approximately 30 to 90 days, and no interest was charged on trade receivables. The determination of the collectability of account receivables and note receivable requires the Group to make judgments on any change of credit quality from the beginning to the end of the credit term.

Before taking new customers, the Group assesses the customers of credit quality and set their line of credit by Credit Management Method. The management evaluates and confers the line of credit after the Group executes credit rating.

The Group applies the simplified approach to estimate expected credit losses prescribed by IFRS9, which permits the use of a lifetime expected losses allowance for all trade receivables. To set the expected credit losses rate, the Group are estimated by reference to past default experience of the debtor, the current financial position of the debtor, and the forecast direction of the future economic conditions

The Group writes off a trade receivable when there is information indicating that the debtor is in severe financial difficulty and there is no realistic prospect of recovery. For trade receivables that have been written off, the Group continues to recourse, and if recoveries are made, these are recognized in profit or loss.

The expected credit risks of the Group's notes and accounts receivable are as below:

(XXXII) Capital Management

The Group's strategy for managing the capital structure is to lay out the plan of product development and expand the market share considering the growth and the magnitude of industry and further developing an integral plan founded on the required capacity, capital outlay, and magnitude of assets in long-term development. Ultimately, considering the risk factors such as the fluctuation of the industry cycle and the life cycle of products, the Group determines the optimal capital structure by estimating the profitability of products, operating profit ratio, and cash flow based on the competitiveness of products.

The capital structure of the Group consists of net debt (borrowings offset by cash and cash equivalents) and equity of the Group (comprising issued capital, reserves and retained earnings).

The management of the Group periodically examines the capital structure and contemplates on the potential costs and risks involved. The Group balances its overall capital structure by paying dividends and issuing new shares, as recommended by key management personnel.

As of June 30, 2025, the Group's overall strategy has not changed significantly.

(XXXIII) Financial Instruments

risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, and liquidity risk related to operating activities. In order to reduce related financial risks, the Group is committed to identifying, assessing, and avoiding market uncertainty to minimize the potential adverse impact of market fluctuations on the Company's financial performance.

The important financial activities of the Group are subject to review by the Board of Directors in accordance with relevant regulations and internal control systems. ## 2. Market risk

The Group is exposed to the market risks arising from changes in foreign exchange rates, interest rates and utilizes some derivative financial instruments to reduce the related risks.

(1) Foreign currency risk

The cash inflows and outflows of the Group include amounts denominated in foreign currencies, resulting in a natural hedge. The Group manages exchange rate risk for hedging purposes only, not for profit.

The exchange rate risk management strategy are regularly reviewing net positions in various currencies and managing those positions; the selection of tools for hedging exchange rate risk is based on hedging costs and duration. Currently, forward foreign exchange contracts and borrowing in foreign currencies are the primary tools used to hedge exchange rate risk.

The nominal amounts of the Group's foreign currency-denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities at the end of the reporting period are as follows:

	June 30, 2025			December 31, 2024			June 30, 2024
	Foreign currency	Exchange rate	NTD	Foreign currency	Exchange rate	NTD	Foreign currency	Exchange rate	NTD

JPY		53,782	0.2052		58,124	0.2082		105,736	0.1997	21,115

As the exchange rate fluctuation impacts the monetary item of the Group greatly, for the six months ended June 30, 2025 and 2024, all the exchange (loss) gains (including both realized and unrealized) are NT$73,242 thousand and NT$74,666 thousand, respectively.

Sensitivity analysis of exchange rate

The Group's exposure to foreign currency risk arises from the translation of the foreign currency exchange gains and losses on cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, accounts payable that are denominated in foreign currency.

1% appreciation or depreciation of the NTD against the foreign currencies on June 30, 2025 and 2024, would have increased (decrease) the net profit after tax by NT$12,324 thousand and NT$8,608 thousand, respectively for the six months ended June 30, 2025 and 2024.

The key management believes that sensitivity analysis does not adequately represent the exchange rate risk, as foreign currency exposure at the reporting date does not reflect exposure levels during the year. The key management will manage exchange rate risk in accordance with the Group's policies.

(2) Interest rate risk

The Group was exposed to fair value interest rate risk and cash flow interest rate risk because the Group hold assets and liabilities at both fixed and floating interest rates.

Sensitivity analysis of interest rate

The following sensitivity analysis is based on the risk exposure to interest rates on the non-derivatives financial instruments on the end date of reporting period. For floating rate liabilities, the analysis assumes the outstanding liabilities are outstanding for the whole year on the end date of reporting period.

If the interest rate increases (decreases) by 0.1%, all other variable factors that remains constant, the Group's net profit before tax would have (decreased) increased by NT$13,426 thousand and NT$10,659 thousand for the six months ended June 30, 2025 and 2024, respectively. This is mainly due to the Group's exposure of the net assets in floating rates.

(3) Other price risk

The Group is exposed to equity price risk arising from equity investments.

Sensitivity analysis of equity price

The sensitivity analyses below have been determined based on the exposure to equity price risks on the end date of reporting period. If equity prices had been 5% higher/lower, the Group's net profit before tax for the six months ended June 30, 2025 and 2024 would have been higher/lower by NT$350,713 thousand and NT$336,500 thousand, respectively, as a result of the fair value changes of financial assets at FVTPL. In case of the fair value changes of financial assets at FVTOCI, it would have been higher/lower by NT$73,863 thousand and NT$71,341 thousand.

3. Credit risk Management

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counter-party will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Group. The Group is exposed to credit risk from operating activities, primarily trade receivables, and from financing activities, primarily deposits, fixed-income investments and other financial instruments with banks. Credit risk is managed separately for business related and financial related exposures.

Business related credit risk

To maintain the quality of receivables, the Group has established operating procedures to manage credit risk.

For individual customers, risk factors considered include the customer's financial position, credit rating agency rating, the Group's internal credit rating, and transaction history as well as current economic conditions that may affect the customer's ability to pay. The Group also uses some credit enhancement tools when appropriate, such as requiring advance payments, to reduce the credit risks involving certain customers.

As of June 30, 2025, December 31, 2024, and June 30, 2024, the receivables from the top 10 customers accounted 14.38%, 7.59%, and 17.69% in the Company's balance of the accounts receivable; the credit concentration risk of the remaining accounts receivable are relatively insignificant.

Since the top customer is creditworthy manufacturers, the credit risk is limited.

Financial credit risk

Bank deposits, fixed income investment and other financial instruments are credit risk sources required by Group's Department of Finance Department to be measured and monitored. However, since the Group's counter-parties are all reputable financial institutions and government agencies, there is no significant financial credit risk.

4. Liquidity risk management

The objective of liquidity risk management is to ensure the Group has sufficient liquidity to fund its business requirements associated with existing operations. The Group manages its liquidity risk by maintain adequate cash and banking facilities

5. The fair value of financial instruments

(1) Fair value of financial instruments carried at amortized cost

The Group considers that the carrying amounts of financial assets and financial liabilities recognized in the consolidated financial statements approximate their fair values.

(2) Valuation techniques and assumptions used in Fair value measurement

The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities are determined as follows :

- The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities with standard terms and conditions and traded on active liquid markets are determined with reference to quoted market prices (includes publicly traded stocks and government bonds).
- Forward exchange contracts are measured using quoted forward exchange rates and yield curves derived from quoted interest rates matching maturities of the contracts. Interest rate swaps are measured at the present value of the appropriate yield curve, discounted using the quoted interest rate based on estimated future cash flows.
- The fair values of other financial assets and financial liabilities in accordance with generally accepted pricing models based on discounted cash flow analysis.

(3) Fair value measurements recognized in the consolidated balance sheets

The following table provides an analysis of financial instruments that are measured subsequent to initial recognition at fair value, grouped into Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value is observable.

- Level 1 fair value measurements are those derived from quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 fair value measurements are those derived from inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices).
- Level 3 fair value measurements are those derived from valuation techniques that include inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs)

XIV. Information on Operating Segments

(I) Basic information on operating segments

1. Classification of operating segments

Information reported to the chief operating decision maker for the purpose of resource allocation and assessment of segment performance focuses on the types of goods or services delivered or provided. Reportable segments of the Group are as below:

(1) Electric Wire and Cable Division

The segment mainly engages in the manufacturing and sale of electric wire & cable.

(2) Solar power plants

The segment mainly engages in the development of solar power plants for renewable energy.

2. Principles for measuring operating segment's income, assets and liabilities.

The significant accounting principles of each operating segment are the same as those stated in Note 4 to the consolidated financial statements. The profit and loss of an operating segment of the Group is measured by pre-tax operating profit and loss, and serves as the basis for performance evaluation. The Group treats inter-segment sales and transfers as sales or transfers to third parties, measured at current market price.

The Group does not allocate income tax expense (benefit), investment income (loss) recognized under the equity method, foreign exchange gain (loss), net investment income (loss), gain (loss) on disposal of investments, gain (loss) on valuation of financial assets and liabilities and extraordinary items to reportable segments. The amounts reported are consistent with the report used by operating decision-makers.

3. Identification factors of reportable segments

The Group's reportable segments are strategic business units that provide different products and services. Different technologies and marketing strategies are required for different strategic business units, so they need to be managed separately.
